Re: Supplemental Education Services (SES) Contracts

As a result of having schools in need of improvement this year, Homer is required to offer additional academic support (SES) to students who receive free or reduced lunch at the Intermediate and Junior High schools.

Attached please find four provider contracts for SES at the Intermediate School and Junior High. The providers are Sylvan Learning Center, Murray Learning, OCM BOCES and Academia.net. Sylvan is probably the best known and offers students three choices including tutoring at the company's East Syracuse location. Murray and BOCES will hire Homer teachers to provide ELA instruction. With Murray Learning, we may be able to establish a "satellite" tutoring location in Truxton. Academia.net offers an on-line program that can be held in our computer lab or in a student's home. The home option is an independent study, and, if the student's family does not have a computer or Internet access, both will be provided for the duration of the service.

Supplemental Education Services are provided at no cost to our students' families.
